Mrs. C. R. Rexrode, Appomattox native, now of Harrisonburg, is shown above presenting an old letter to Court House National Park superintendent Grover Earl Steele. The letter was written by Joel T. Cawthorne, Mrs. Rexrode's great uncle and a Confederate soldier, while he was a prisoner in Maryland. Duane Schreck, of the Park's interpretive staff, about to go on duty at the McLean House, expressed interest in Cawthorne's letter, and obligingly stepped into the Park Museum for the presentation. In the background is Guillaume's painting of Lee and Grant's meeting at McLean House, painted about 1880.

Confederate Letter Given To Appomattox Nat'l Park

A letter from a Confederate veteran written almost 100 years ago was presented on Friday to the Appomattox Court House National Historical Park by a great-niece of the writer, Mrs. Sue (C. R.) Rexrode, of Harrisonburg.

Mrs. Rexrode, daughter of the late Thomas W. and Lizzie Cole Reader of Appomattox county, says that the letter is in almost perfect condition, having been carefully preserved in her mother's home. She remembers her great uncle Joel. Joel T. Crawthorne, who wrote the letter to his parents, John Hubbard Crawthorne and Jemima Catherine Thornhill Cawthorne, while he was a prisoner at Point Lookout, Maryland.

The letter, dated July 6, 1864, relates that Cawthorne and others of his company are doing well, but missing letters from home. Whether to spend a reply, or because money for stamps was unavailable, Cawthorne enclosed a "U. S. stamp" (now missing, of course) in his letter home.

Mrs. Rexrode says that Joel Cawthorne, born 1841, lived to the age of 77, and died in 1929. The Cawthorne home was approximately six to eight miles between Evergreen and Central Church neighborhood in Appomattox County.

He was a faithful and prominent member of Liberty Baptist Church until his death. Mrs. Rexrode said that Joel Cawthorne married Miss Mary Louise Coleman after the war. They had no children.

Bible Saves Life

Cawthorne's life was saved during the war, Mrs. Rexrode said, by a Bible being in his pocket. The bullet pierced the Bible but didn't go entirely through. This Bible is on exhibit at the Park museum, given by Cawthorne's neice, Mrs. Nellie Cawthorne Schaubach, of Creve.

Recalls Ladies' Meeting

Park Secretary, Mrs. Avis Smith, recalls that as a child she and "Red" Jamerson (now of the Post Office) and others with mothers in the Missionary Society of Liberty Baptist Church, used to go to an all-day meeting each September at the Cawthorne home. It was "chinquapin time"; Mrs. Smith recalls, and the children gathered chinquapins while the ladies met inside.

The Park staff has invited readers to come and view the Bible, the newly acquired letter, and other relics from the War.

Winner Recalls Unforgettable New York Trip

A Week To Remember

By Barbara Gaines

My trip to New York City this past week was truly one of the most unforgettable experiences of my life. Had it not been for the friendliness, leadership, and guidance of Mr. Lloyd Vaughan, publisher of the TIMES-VIRGINIAN, Mr. J. Barrye Wall, publisher of the Farmville Herald, and Mr. Vernon Womack, clerk of Prince Edward circuit court, our trip might not have been possible.

It was indeed a joy meeting and having fellowship with each of the wonderful people on our tour.

Monday, July 29 —At 9:45 a.m. we climbed aboard the Greyhound bus. Before we could realize it, Virginia's lovely Shenandoah Valley was behind us, and before us stood the inspiringly beautiful Natural Bridge. 3:45 p. m. — We arrived at the Tower Motel in Luray. After dinner we visited the lovely caverns.

Tuesday, July 30 — We drove by the famous Manassas Battlegrounds, then on to Washington, D. C. to see the sights. We followed the New Jersey Turnpike to New York and arrived 4:25 p. m. at Hotel Picadilly. On our ride around Manhatten Island we pass the USS HOPE about to leave on her third goodwill mission.

Wednesday, July 31 — We toured uptown New York. After dinner we visited the glamourous Music Hall Theater, featuring the famous Dancing Rockettes.

Thursday, August 1 — We toured lower New York and chartered a boat to go across New York's Harbor to visit the Statue of Liberty. We dined at the "Copacabana" and then went on to "Sammy's Bowery Follies" which was an entirely different kind of place. Next, we went on to the "International" night club in time to catch their floor show.

Friday, August 2 — We left for home and arrived about 6:45 p. m.

Of course, words cannot describe how very beautiful everything was. You have to see it to believe it.

I would like to say "thank you" to Mr. Vaughan for making this trip possible, and to each and every person who supported me during my canvass. My heartfelt appreciation to each of you. May God bless you all.

Child Run Over By Automobile

Little Danny Scruggs, son of the Warren D. Scruggs of Isbell Street was rushed to a Lynchburg hospital about 8:0 p.m. by his grandparents' car.

According to Rescue Squad member Leslie Tyree, Danny accidently moved the automatic steering control on the car to reverse, while his mother was visiting friends just outside the town limits of Route 24. As the car began to move the child fell from the car, and the left front door struck him and threw him under the wheel.

A local physician examined Danny and recommended hospital examination. He apparently suffered several cracked ribs and internal injuries, but was reported in good condition Tuesday night.

Activities start Friday night, August 16, at 8 p.m. with a Rock and Roll Dance at the Avalon Club. There will be no admission charge, but the Young and Young at Heart will find a Rescue Squad container for contributions to their fund.

On Saturday night, a street dance will be held, with cash prizes for the best dancers. Dance time: 6 p.m.

Bake Sale — Ballet

Among the special events will be a ballet featuring the "loyliest ladies" of the town, according to Captain Jamerson. Residents who saw a similar ballet several years ago will recall that the "ladies" turned out to be prominent businessmen with the latest in mop wigs and fancy skirts.

Home baked goods will be on sale, as well as hamburgers and hot dogs. Jesse Osborne is chairman and has promised a "thick, smoky" flavor to these treats to whet everyones' appetite.

Biggest Baby

Watch for the "Biggest Baby" in town, Rescue Squad members say that the day will be filled with special acts and surprises.

You are urged to search the attic, basement, and every floor between for items to be auctioned at Saturday morning's sale. Dishes, furniture, clothing, picture frames, toys — anything and everything will be up for auction. Phone 332 -3234 or 352-7425 if you want the items picked up. Otherwise, they can be taken down town to the railroad depot to Mrs. Hallie Ferguson and Mrs. C. B.
